   This is a deadline-intensive course for first-year students who are working for the Dixie Sun student newspaper to get hands-on experience from a weekly publication and to enhance their knowledge of journalism. The course will expose students to day-to-day operations of a newsroom and all aspects of production, such as writing, editing, layout, design, photography, advertising, and distribution.

7. Course justification (attach sheets if needed):
   This is a request to delete the existing Comm 1210 course, which is titled "Newspaper Production I." We are enhancing the sophomore-level course, Comm 2210, that will have this same title. We do not need two lower-division newspaper production courses, so we wish to drop this one in favor of the revised sophomore-level course.
