6. Catalog Description: ☐ Now in Print, or ☑ Proposed Below:
   Prepares the student to function within the scope of practice of the registered nurse. Emphasis on more complex physiological and psychosocial needs of adult patients using the nursing process. It encourages the development of critical thinking, therapeutic communication, technical skills, leadership/management skills, effective time management, professional behavior and caring. Complex integrated care is provided for medical/surgical patients at the RN level of nursing. Human relations training is embedded within this course as human needs/therapeutic communication are constants in the nurse/client relationship. Course fee required. Prerequisite: Acceptance into the associate degree nursing program. Corequisites: NURS 2101, NURS 2105. 5 lecture hours per week.

7. Course justification (attach sheets if needed):
   Human Relations and Therapeutic Communications courses were eliminated from the curriculum in order to reduce total program credits. This was done in order to be in compliance with NLNAC accreditation requirements. In order to fulfill State requirements for human relations, the content of the cancelled courses is being incorporated into this course.
   NURS 2101 and NURS 2105 are the lab and clinic portions of this course. They are "0" credit sections with the full credits given under this course number. Therefore the description for 2100 only refers to the lecture hours per week.

8. Are library resources adequate to support this change? Yes If not, how are those resources to be acquired?

9. Are technical and other resources available? Yes If not, how are those resources to be acquired?

10. Relationship to the curriculum: Would the course fill a G.E. requirement? No If yes, which G.E. area? If it does not fill a G.E. requirement, would the course offer elective credit? Yes
