   Explanation of Fees:

4. Catalog Description: ☐  Now in Print, or ☒  Proposed Below:

   This course satisfies a requirement for students pursuing a professional/technical writing emphasis. It is also appropriate as an upper-division elective for other English majors or anyone else interested in the historical and contemporary connections between rhetoric and composition pedagogies. The course focuses on rhetoricians and theorists influential in composition theory, from classical to contemporary. Successful students will be able to describe the major trends in rhetoric and composition theory, to connect composition theory to originating theorists, and to analyze compositions for rhetorical techniques. Students will compose either a teaching portfolio or a conference-ready research paper in composition studies. Prerequisite: ENGL 2010 with a grade of C or better.
   3 lecture hours per week.

5. Course justification (attach sheets if needed):

   We need to expand our upper-division course offerings to meet the needs of our majors. A course devoted to composition theory and pedagogy is an important step toward aligning our curriculum with other institutional offerings, while still fulfilling the needs of our department.

6. Arc library resources adequate to support this change? Yes  If not, how are those resources to be acquired?

7. Are technical and other resources available? Yes  If not, how are those resources to be acquired?

8. Relationship to the curriculum: Would the course fill a G.E. requirement? No  If yes, which G.E. area?
   If it does not fill a G.E. requirement, would the course offer elective credit? Yes
