Students will work on a specific research project under the direction of a faculty member. Student involvement will depend on the student's preparation and interest. Completion of the course will require a paper (using supporting scientific sources, in APA style) related to the research problem.

Course Rotation:
Fall (every)
Spring (every)

Justification for course/change:
This is one of many courses that will replace the Psychology Practicum course, which was too nonspecific in representing a wide range of activities. This course will present a clearer indication of what the student actually did.
